DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 27-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bellamy et al (US 4,747,783) in view of Cowie et al (US 5,236,789).

Bellamy et al disclose a connector assembly comprising:

a first electrical contact (11);

a second or mating contact (19);

the first electrical contact having a conductive portion (11) and a resistive portion (13), the resistive portion exposed for direct engagement with the second contact.

Bellamy et al substantially disclose the claimed invention except the resistive portion is in direct contact with the conductive portion.

Cowie et al teach a contact (16) comprising two different materials (18, 20) in direct contact with each other to provide a good electrical conduction.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a resistive material in direct contact with a conductive material onto the contact of Bellamy et al, as taught by Cowie et al to provide a good electrical conduction.
